Miguel - Candles In The Sun Lyrics | AZLyrics.com

"Candles in the Sun" is a slow burning, political soul song. It touches on senseless killings, drug-infested communities, [41] and questions the existence of God and the motives of governments. [42] Chris Kelly of Fact writes that, along with "Adorn", "Candles in the Sun" "bookend[s] the album with another tribute to Marvin Gaye, a la 'What's Going On?'"

Kaleidoscope Dream - Wikipedia

"Just candles in the sun, blowing in the wind" In this part of the chorus he points out that these criminals are just like candles in the sun, it is an unnecessary waste of light, because the sun already lightens up everything naturally. When the wind is blowing, these candles go out, but the sun remains enlightened.
