I now loudly cry; I also take my turn at bat; I've had my fling at growing up And want no old man's fair renown. To be a boy is finer joy, And so I've started growing down. Once more I'm learning games I knew When I was four and five and six, I'm going back along life's track

Growing Down Poem by Edgar Albert Guest - Poem Hunter

Why must you shout when I'm lying down? Why don't you grow up?" grumped Grow-Up Brown. One day we said to Grow-Up Brown, "Hey, why don't you try growing down? Why don't you crawl on your knees? Why don't you try climbing trees? Why don't you bang on a tin-can drum? Why don't you chew some bubble gum? Why don't you play kick-the-can?"

Growing Down - Poem by Shel Silverstein • Rhymings

In the following poem, a speaker tells an adult that he should try "growing down" rather than growing up. As you read, take notes on what it means to grow up and to "grow down".
