Yes, the 150 is a good machine -- and it is slightly different from the 150e. It was a "middle" of the line machine from Viking lxx series (the 180 and 190 were above) but produces all the stitches you'll need. As such, it was a good buy at the time... "Consumer Reports" even reported it as a "Best Buy".

Removing the covers on different Husqvarna sewing machines may not be done in the same fashion. To remove the cover of the 150 E you need to remove the screw on the back panel first. The start of Viking Sewing Machines: Husqvarna, who gets its name from the city where it was started (Husqvarna Sweden), has been selling sewing machines since 1872. This 145-year-old company started as a drilling and grinding mill for muskets. However, they moved to sewing machines after the company passed from royal control to private control.
