The engine, designed by Franco Lambertini, brings to life the glorious past of Moto Morini, both through its name, which brings to mind the 250 Bialbero that towards the end of the 1950s was the world's fastest single-cylinder motorcycle, and through its design that incorporates other historical Morini models, also powered by Lambertini designed engines.

Milano - Moto Morini

After leaving MM in 1937, Morini produced 350 and 500cc 3-wheeled delivery vehicles, then switched to aeronautical component manufacture until the factory was bombed in 1943. The post war period was Morini's heyday with many well received road bikes and GP winning 125 and 250cc singles. Morini's 350 air-cooled V-Twin powerplant
