Pediatrics

During the past century, advances in hygiene, antibiotic development, and immunisations have resulted in cures for most childhood infections. Because access to medical care is not universally available, however, infectious diseases continue to be the main source of childhood mortality and morbidity.

A recent study conducted in Australia and New Zealand revealed that hepatic failure due to paracetamol ingestion occurred in children mostly as a result of medication errors such as doses in excess of 120 mg/kg/day, double dose, too frequent administration, coadministration of other medicines containing paracetamol or regular
