“Personally, I liked being in a coworking space because I was new to the city, and it was great for being social and meeting people,” says Madison Dapceвич, a reporter for IFL Science whose office is based in a San Francisco WeWork. But Dapceвич’s company has been working remotely since January, and she now worries about returning to the office where shared spaces present a risk of infection.

Hans Monderman has been one of the most significant influences on the current debate about the design of streets and spaces in the UK. A traffic engineer and road safety specialist from Northern Holland, he is celebrated as the pioneer of shared space as a means to influence speed and driver behaviour. Monderman has been the inspiration behind scores of towns and villages which work without ...
