(1) Carson shows that the Bible doesn't teach or imply that the gifts of the Spirit listed in 1 Cor 12:8-10 (and other similar ones) died out with the apostles. He rightly argues that the New Testament connects the outpouring of the Spirit and His gifts not just with the inauguration of the New Covenant era, but with the whole era.

Carson, D. A. Showing the Spirit: A Theological Exposition of 1 Corinthians 12-14. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Books, 1987. Carson steers a middle path between deistic cessationism and slappy clappy anything-goes charisma. He endorses the substance behind Grudem's thesis while calling particular details into account.

Book Review – Showing the Spirit (D A Carson) Posted on February 2, 2005 by Mark Heath. This is the second time I have read and reviewed this book. The first review was fairly short, so this will be the "in depth" version, giving me opportunity to interact with some of Carson's observations. For the most part, it is a study of 1 Corinthians 12-14, reading in many ways like a commentary, but with a specific intent of shedding some light on the issue of the charismatic movement.
