Taking Our Country Back – Daniel Kreiss

The Tea Party has taken over the Republican Party. Or, more precisely, the Tea Party is trying to take the country back from liberals, freeloaders on welfare, immigrants, minorities, and, of course, President Obama. Although the number of people identifying as Tea Party supporters has declined from 30 percent in 2010 to 17 percent today, three of the major Republican front runners—Donald Trump, Ted Cruz, and Marco Rubio—embody Tea Party beliefs and are each trying to take our country ...

What "Take Our Country Back" Really Means – Washington ...

To take our country back, we need to remember, Democrats win when we stand up and fight for who we are. We win when we fight for a government of, by and for the people, not wealthy special interests.

When the Tea Party was at its heyday during the 2010 elections, when the Palins and the Bachmanns ruled the day, "take-our-country-back" Americans: You know, those real Americans, real patriots, real believers who belong to the party of core values, of family values — the good party, the party of God.

"Take Our Country Back": What Do They Mean? | HuffPost

Social Media is a vital tool for taking our country back. Because the media is no longer the trusted industry it once was considered to be, social media has become a very powerful platform for our President to reach us unfiltered. It may not always be polished and pretty, but transparency rarely is.
