The term sacred comes from Latin sacer (" set off, restricted "). A person or thing was designated as sacred when it was unique or extraordinary. Closely related to sacer is numen (" mysterious power, god "). The term numinous is used at present as a description of the sacred to indicate its power, before which man trembles.

sacred | Definition, History, Characteristics, & Facts ...

Sacred - Sacred - Manifestations of the sacred: The sacred appears in myths, sounds, ritual activity, people, and natural objects. Through retelling the myth the divine action that was done " in the beginning " is repeated. The repetition of the sacred action symbolically duplicates the structure and power that established the world originally.
