The 10 Types of Stakeholders That You Meet in Business

A stakeholder is someone who has an interest in or who is affected by your project and its outcome. This may include both internal and external entities such as the members of the project team, project sponsors, executives, customers, suppliers, partners and the government. Stakeholder management is the process of managing the expectations and the requirements of these stakeholders.

Stakeholder management and political collaboration is key to the execution and assessment of successful change. The success and failure of projects is determined by the stakeholders' perception of the projects' outcomes. Many project failures stem from lack of genuine involvement or a failure to identify them at all.
